

The Alliance

for Responsible Atmospheric Policy

September 22, 2016

Statement from the Alliance for Responsible Atmospheric Policy:

Today's announcements and activities at the UN General Assembly are a clear demonstration of the broad consensus that now exists for an HFC phase-down amendment to the Montreal Protocol.

While developing the technologies to make an HFC phase-down amendment possible, Alliance members have consistently called for a focus on technology considerations and for recognizing the timing of implementation in developing countries.

The Alliance is pleased to join the many voices that have called today for a responsible, ambitious approach to reducing the climate impact of HFCs.

Full details on today's developments as provided by the White House are available here:

<http://bit.ly/2cTWLZ2>